

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attend the making of this great medicine for women's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

PICTURES SOUGHT FOR THE KENTUCKY BUILDING.

Pennants, pictures and exhibits, suitable for wall posting, are wanted by the War Camp Community Service for display in the Kentucky section of the States' Welcome Home building at Newport News, Va., according to information from the Lake Division representative in charge of the States Headquarters at Newport News.

A large Kentucky flag, which was used on the Kentucky building at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904, and is the property of Secretary C. F. Dunn, of the Lexington Board of Commerce, will be sent with the exhibits. The States' Welcome Home has nine buildings with flags of the States in this district flying from their respective buildings. The buildings are in charge of thirteen regional managers and a warm welcome is given each returning boy in his section of the States' Welcome Home.

The buildings contain reading and writing rooms, where files are kept of home papers, magazines and other literature that give a touch of home to the building.

PRESIDENT TO LEAVE FOR HOME JUNE 24.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—President Wilson hopes to leave Paris for Washington on June 24 or 25, if the Germans sign the peace treaty. Immediately after his arrival in Washington, the President will address Congress. After clearing up pressing official business he will start on his "swing around the circle" early in July. It was said at the White House to-day that the President expected to spend three weeks on his speaking tour, explaining the peace treaty and the League of Nations covenant.

The President has made known a desire that his audiences during his tour be composed largely of opponents of the League of Nations plan, rather than its supporters. He also has informed White House officials that he might discuss the League covenant in public addresses in the course of his visit to Belgium this week. Should he leave Paris a week from to-morrow, the President should arrive in Washington about July 3. He will present the revised draft of the peace treaty to the Senate and will discuss the treaty and League covenant in an address to a joint session of the Senate and House.

WAR RISK INSURANCE BUREAU'S POSTAL SYSTEM

More than a ton of incoming mail each day and nearly as much outgoing mail has made it necessary for the War Risk Insurance Bureau to build up a postal system that is larger than any other of its kind in the United States. Eighty thousand pieces of incoming mail each day are the average for the bureau, of these more than 50,000 being letters. There are over 80,000 outgoing letters each day. Mail is received every half hour, day and night, and a force of employees is at work upon it throughout every twenty-four hours, including Sundays. Most of the employees who first read the letters received are women, the majority being college graduates, highly trained for this expert work in quickly storing the letters, so that they reach the department for which they are intended in the quickest possible time.

IS LARGEST ELM IN U. S.

(Buffalo News.)

The largest elm tree in the United States is in Rathbone, near Marietta, O., according to tree experts. It is thirty-two feet in circumference and is estimated to be from 500 to 700 years old. The tree has a spread of 165 feet and has five limbs branching out from the main trunk as large as ordinary trees.

Another famous tree in Ohio, a sycamore, was located about one mile below Beverly, on the Muskingum River. Records collected by the department of forestry at the Ohio Experiment Station show that an early French traveler made notes of the tree, because of its amazing size. His record shows that in 1802 the tree was forty-seven feet in circumference and that Gen. George Washington had also made notes concerning the tree in his early travels into what was then known as the West. During the latter part of the Nineteenth century the tree became hollow to such an extent that one could stand inside the cavity and turn an eleven-foot rail around in it. The tree lost many of its branches before it disappeared beneath the waters of the Muskingum during the cave-in of the bank in 1904.

Early records show that many gigantic walnut trees were in the forest around that immense sycamore; many of them were so large that, when lying on the ground, they could be chinned by a man. Much of the early fence between Beverly and Marietta was constructed from walnut rails which were made from these trees.

Speaking of cake, don't you just long for the short kind?

CAMPAIGN AGAINST CARELESS THRASHERMEN.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Department of Agriculture has started a campaign against the careless thrashermen. It wants only "clean straw ricks" left of the greatest grain crop the nation ever has known, according to a statement made public recently. So the thrashermen will be aided by the government to develop efficiency and avoid loss in separating the wheat from the chaff.

Records of the department reveal startling losses of grain "through avoidable waste of thrashermen." Tests made in "just ordinary" crop years show an average of 25,000,000 to 27,000,000 bushels is thus thrown away. What it will be this year, unless the waste is eliminated, the department believed, would be worth much more than the campaign of education would cost the government.

In Minnesota, where the department made comprehensive tests covering 6,500 thrashing machines last year, it was found that more than 25 per cent. of machines wasted an average of 15 bushels of grain a day each. This loss, according to the figures, was largely through machines being out of repair or through lack of adjustment. Some Minnesota thrashers wasted as much as 50 bushels a day in the thrashing season.
